Gladiolus DDT

DDT has been found to be very effective against Gladiolus thrips, the tiny insect that sucks the life out of the bloom and foliage as well as feeds on the bulb in storage. During the growing season the plants should be dusted or sprayed every 7 to 10 days from the time they are a foot high until the blooms open. It can be used as a dust or spray.

Dust for Control in Storage

Tests show that either Arasan or Spergon dusted on Gladiolus bulbs at digging time, and again after cleaning when they are put away for the winter, materially checks the advance of the fungus type of Gladiolus disease. These have been recommended as a dust treatment to replace the dip method of using New Improved Ceresan. Just dust the bulbs heavily and plant, and the dust will tend to immunize the bulb. Wettable Spergon can be used if the dip method is preferred.

Spergon Gladiolus Dust

A mixture of Spergon (a fungicide) and DDT. If you use this you do not need to use DDT dust in storage. Dust at digging time and again at cleaning time.

GLADIOLUS DRACOCEPHALUS

A wild species and a real green Glad. The color of the flower is practically the same as the foliage. An oddity in shape and form, some wonder if it is a Glad at all. A treasured item to a home flower arranger. Stock is very rare and the quantity we have available is very small.

(Each 50c, any size)

FAIRY (Kuhn-'46) 75 days-266

A delicate lavender holding 5 to 6 open on a well built spike of 14 to 16 buds. A fine Glad in a lovely color.

FIFTH AVENUE (Hedgecock-'50) 252

Dark glistening velvety red with no markings. It opens 5 florets 3 inches in diameter on a straight 4-foot stem, and has a flower head of 12 to 15 or more buds. The blooms are well placed and slightly recurved. This has all the style and beauty of a parade down Fifth Avenue.

(L. 2—30c; 10—$1.20) (M. 2—20c; 10—80c) (Blbts. 20—25c)

FLICKER (Kuhn-'46) 75 days-221

OCEAN SPRAY (Baerman-'46) 75 days-206

Clean creamy white with a prominent amber-yellow throat marking that is distinctly different than any other Glad. All around good performer and a sure winner in its class.

PIXIE (Klein-'54) 75 days-210

Pure dark red without markings. 4 to 5 open on 15-bud spikes. An early red miniature you need for your collection.

SNOW BABY (Stancer-'41) 75 days-200

Pure white, tall. A little beauty.

Miniature Gladiolus varieties like the Pompon Dahlias are extremely popular for use in the small homes of today and we can barely keep up with the demand. Order early and order more bulbs for a succession of bloom. Try the medium or even small size, they will bloom perfectly for you. If planted in a row you can plant 100 or more bulbs in a 20-foot row.

Miniature Gladiolus

STARLET (Baerman-'44) 70 days-200

Pure waxy white, heavily and beautifully ruffled. One of the finest for floral work.

STATUETTE (Butt-'50) 65 days-213

An old reliable purple without markings. 4 to 6 florets open.

THOMAS E. WILSON (Koerner-'42) 75 days-150

Face-up type. Jasper-red with a creamy white throat. All face-ups are especially effective in arrangements when the stems are cut real short and all green buds removed. A stunning centerpiece results when a dozen or more are used together.

TWEEDLEDUM (Van Voorhis-'38) 85 days-265

Odd rose-red florets with large gold throat mark. Easy grower with no bad habits.

These brilliantly colored flowers are easily grown. We do not know of any other house plant that responds so quickly. Velvety flowers last for months, making a stunning effect between the soft, handsome leaves. Bulbs can be planted from early February to late May, to make a succession of flowers. Place one bulb in a 5-inch pot filled with good, rich, sandy loam. Cover bulb about one inch, water sparingly. Place in a warm, sunny window or conservatory.
